E. S. GERBERICH, DIRECTOR OF SEMINARY, DIES

Funeral services for Enos S. Gerberich, 84, well-known shoe manufacturer who died Friday at his home in the Grayco Apts., North St., Harrisburg, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Zion Lutheran Church, Harrisburg.

The Rev. Dr. Viggo Swenson, pastor of Zion Church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Palmyra Cemetery. While the casket will not be opened in the church, friends may call between 7 and 9 p.m. Monday at the funeral home at 511 N. Second St., Harrisburg. The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, friends make contributions to the American Cancer Society.

Formerly Schoolteacher

Mr. Gerberich had been acting for several years, but was active in business until mid-April.

He was one of the owners of the Grayco Apts., founded the Gerberich-Payne Shoe Co., Mt. Joy, in association with the late Frank Payne of Harrisburg, and was a founder of the Kreider Shoe Co., Middletown.

Born in East Hanover Twp., Lebanon County, he was orphaned at the age of 9 and spent the next decade among farmers and relatives. He finished country school, attended normal school and became a school teacher.

Opens Store

Following his marriage to Miss Mary Elizabeth Earley, Dec. 18, 1890, he opened shoe stores successively in Ephrata, Steelton and Trenton and then went into the manufacturing business with the late A. S. Kreider in Middletown. When he left that corporation in 1918, he and Payne established the Mt. Joy plant.

Mr. Gerberich was a member of Zion Lutheran Church and for years had been its Sunday School superintendent. He was a lay member of the denomination and was a director of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, and chairman of its finance committee.

Dr. Langsam Tells 86 Graduates At Biglerville High To Develop Faith, Optimism, Friendliness

Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of Gettysburg College, Friday evening told 86 Biglerville High School graduating seniors that "any self-reliant young person of today can be prosperous tomorrow by development of three basic characteristics—faith, optimism and friendliness."

The prominent local educator delivered the commencement address to the Biglerville Seniors, their parents, guests, and teachers at the Upper Adams school's seventh annual commencement program held in the Memorial Auditorium, Ardentsville.

Warning youth against the influence of formula-spouters "who will use any means to gain power for themselves," Dr. Langsam urged: "Always be open to change, especially when change means improvement. Otherwise it is better to cling to the tried and true."

The speaker's theme was keyed to "The Challenge of Leadership." In the address he stated that individual realization of growth in faith, optimism in a bright future, and friendliness toward fellowman will eventually gain "the pride of your parents, the gratitude of your country, and the blessing of God."

"God Is Interested"

"To have faith means to know that God is interested in you as an individual. You cannot get faith from any other man or woman. You must feel it from within. It comes to you through the grace of God. But, once you have faith, you can grow in it; for faith is something which is nourished and strengthened by practice and use."

"You can generally recognize a person of faith by his or her self-reliance and confidence. Faith makes an individual want to stand on his own feet. The citizen who has faith in God does not wait for the world to hand him a living. He goes out and cheerfully works for his living. He knows that hard work and skill in any vocation in life will bring their own reward. He is worthy of his hire, and does not want to be paid for what he has not earned. (Continued on Page 3)

DR. C. M. A. STINE OF DUPONT FAME PASSES AWAY

Through the untimely demise of Dr. Charles M. A. Stine, the Gettysburg College family and, indeed, our entire country, has suffered a grievous loss. Illustrious alumnus, outstanding scientist and administrator, friend of humanity, and devoted churchman, he always gave and never took. We share the sorrow of his family and pray that God, in His infinite mercy, may give them consolation.

DR. WALTER C. LANGSAM
President, Gettysburg College

(Special To The Times)

WILMINGTON, Del., May 28—Dr. Charles M. A. Stine, one of the nation's pioneers in industrial organic chemical research and for many years the Du Pont Company's adviser on research and development, died unexpectedly here tonight. Since he retired in 1945 as a vice president and member of the executive committee, Dr. Stine had been a member of the Du Pont Company's board of directors. He was 72 years old.

He was chairman emeritus of the board of trustees of Gettysburg College. He had served as chairman for a number of years.

Dr. Stine left a promising scholarly career in 1907 to enlist in industry at a time when a few far-sighted men were just beginning to glimpse the industrial possibilities of organic chemical research.

World Famous Chemist

In a little more than 20 years he became Du Pont's chief technical adviser, one of the most important chemical posts in American business.

When he joined Du Pont he was assigned to the eastern laboratory, near Gibbstown, N. J., organized in an effort to bring the United States abreast with Europe in high-explosive advances. He was not yet 24 years old. But among the handful of organic chemists then enrolled in American industry, he was one of the most thoroughly qualified.

At 15, he had entered Gettysburg College from where he graduated in 1901. There he received four degrees in science and art, with first honors. At the age of 22 he was professor of chemistry at the Maryland College for Women, Johns Hopkins University elected him a Fellow the next year, and a year later awarded him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, with membership in Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity.

Headed Chemical Research

Dr. Stine's researches at Du Pont's eastern laboratory led to major improvements in explosives permissible for use in coal mines, and in low-freezing dynamites. In two years he was placed in charge of all organic chemical research of the company. Under his direction, the first commercial production of T.N.T. in this country was initiated. He devised a radically new process for the manufacture of picric acid.

These and other developments with which he was closely identified affected importantly the large-scale production in America of high explosives for the Allies during the first world war. They were also of great importance in the second world war. Dr. Stine was one of the few American research men at the time of the first war who were familiar with the basic intermediates from which are derived coal-tar dyes, the American supply of which was cut off by the war.

For years Dr. Stine had been one of the consultants appointed by the American Chemical Society to the United States Army in connection with pilot plant construction and operation. He was the first (Continued on Page 2)

COURT RULES AGAINST PHONE COMPANY HERE

The Adams County court, in an opinion handed down today, held that the United Telephone Company's tariff provision releasing it from liability in connection with its directory listings is "void, as against public policy, in so far as it attempts to exempt the defendant from liability for the consequences of a willful breach of duty or for the consequences of negligence."

The opinion was handed down in the suit brought by Dr. Richard C. Newsham, Hanover St. veterinarian, against the telephone company. Dr. Newsham is seeking damages because his name did not have the listing "veterinarian" after it, when it appeared in the 1953 telephone directory and his listing as a veterinarian was not included in the classified section of the book. Newsham claimed he entered into an oral contract for such service with the company prior to the issuance of the 1953 book.

Attorneys for the telephone company had argued that a provision in its tariff filed with the Pennsylvania Utility Commission stating that it was not liable for damages claimed on account of errors in the directory, exempted it from any payments to Dr. Newsham and asked the court to rule against Dr. Newsham.

In his opinion today Judge W. C. Sheely cites a number of cases before prior courts and held that the issuance of a directory by a telephone company is "part of the defendant's duty to the public." The court cited other court opinions that "without a directory, the presence of a telephone in a place of business is of negligible value . . . an incorrect listing in the directory may make a telephone just as inaccessible as if it had been disconnected."

COMMUNITIES PLAN WEEKEND MEMORIAL RITES

Numerous Memorial services will be held throughout the Adams County area during the weekend.

The first Memorial Day event today was one held at Wesley Chapel Cemetery, Fountaineau, at 10 o'clock this morning under sponsorship of members of the Wesley congregation. Participating in the service were the American Legion Post drill squad of Emmitsburg under command of Eugene Rodgers, and Amvets Post 172 of Fountaineau, under guidance of Vaughn Dagenhart. The Fairfield High School band provided the music and the Gettysburg Address was given by Walter Peck, 16. Prayers were offered by the Rev. Kenneth R. Bonham, pastor of Wesley Chapel. The Chapel Choir sang "There'll Be No Dark Valley."

Capsule Comment On M'Carthy Case

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (P)—Judge Winfred B. Hale of Rogersville, attending the Tennessee Bar Assn. convention here, made this comment yesterday on the McCarthy-Army hearings: "They are just like a man I know in Hawkins County who swallowed an egg. He was afraid to move on in fear the egg might break, and he was afraid to stand still in fear it might hatch."

FRENCH ARMOR AND INFANTRY SMASH REDS

By LARRY ALLEN
HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French armor and infantry today smashed through a Vietminh ring encircling the beleaguered post of Yen Phu 30 miles south of Hanoi.

The command said tanks and armored units from Nam Dinh and the Phu Ly sector had driven through to Yen Phu and reinforced it with fresh troops and supplies.

Yen Phu—defended by one company of about 160 men—had been under rebel fire for the past 18 days.

Used Old Tactics
The rebels had kept the little outpost in the vital Red River Delta area under steady mortar bombardment while Vietminh mole squads burrowed to within 300 feet of the barbed wire barriers. Some 12 Vietminh battalions took part in the grueling attack.

Following the tactics they used to take Dien Bien Phu, the rebels apparently aimed to pound the outpost until it was sufficiently softened up for a frontal assault.

More U. S. Planes
News of the French breakthrough came after a day of scattered action in which the rebels knocked off one Vietminh command defense post 20 miles southwest of Hanoi and encircled two others in the same sector.

The French said they were supplying the embattled posts by air.

The French Union cause was bolstered somewhat yesterday by the arrival of 17 American fighter planes and fresh troop reinforcements.

COURT RULES

ruling the telephone company's motion for judgment on the pleadings the court said:

"We do not consider that a provision exempting the company from liability contained in a tariff regulation has any different effect than a similar provision in a contract between the parties. If a provision in a contract exempting the company from liability for negligence is void as contrary to public policy, a similar provision contained in a tariff regulation would likewise be void as contrary to public policy. The question is not whether such a provision is reasonable, but is whether or not the provision is valid. It is true that the company's liability for damages would have an effect upon the rates which it must charge, but this is true of its general liability for negligence in connection with any of its activities. The only effect of including the exemption in the tariff regulation was to make such exemption a part of its contract with the plaintiff by operation of law, and was not to make such exemption valid."

Tribute To E. S. Gerberich

particular reason to be thankful for his services.

Chairman of Committee
He was for several terms a member of its Board of Directors and chairman of the Finance Committee. His business acumen was applied to the affairs of the seminary especially its investments with an effectiveness difficult to measure. He gave unsparingly of his time and personal resources to all the work of the seminary.

Those who labored with him came to know not only his business ability but his warm personality, his deep consecration, his fine Christian character and his great sense of stewardship.

Beyond all the valuable services that he rendered however, he will be remembered as a "man greatly beloved." Those who worked most closely with him are grateful that they were privileged to enjoy this fellowship through the years. His influence will continue to live and as his co-workers miss his presence, they will rejoice for him that he has entered into the joy of the faithful.

The human eye weighs about a quarter an ounce.

DR. C. M. A. STINE

Du Pont official concerned with the atomic energy project, which was the company's largest single undertaking of the war, and was instrumental in the selection of many of the technicians who helped carry it to completion.

Dr. Stine was appointed assistant chemical director of the Du Pont Company in 1919 and chemical director in 1924, coincident with a growing expansion of Du Pont research activities. Six years later, in 1930, he was elected to the company's board of directors and was made the vice president and member of the executive committee advisory over all Du Pont research and chemical matters.

Dr. Stine was credited with chief responsibility for the introduction of fundamental research in the Du Pont program of development. The most spectacular outcome was the discovery, announced by Dr. Stine in 1938, of the new class of chemical materials known as nylon.

Sponsored Ag. Research
During his years as a vice president, Dr. Stine actively sponsored Du Pont's research in the agricultural and veterinary fields. In recognition of this, the new Du Pont research facilities near Newark, Del., were named "The Stine Laboratory" in his honor.

Abroad as well as in the United States, Dr. Stine became one of the best known of industrial research directors. "For valuable work in applied chemistry" he was awarded the Perkin Medal in 1939 by the American Section of the Society of Chemical Industry, Gettysburg, his alma mater, conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of science in 1926; Cumberland University made him a doctor of law in 1932; Temple University conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL.D. in 1941, and the University of Delaware conferred the honor degree of doctor of science in 1947.

He served on the advisory committee on chemical engineering curriculum of Princeton University and had served in the same capacity at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Gettysburg College honored him in 1954 with the naming of a men's dormitory "The Charles M. A. Stine Hall."

LITTLESTOWN'S PARADE, RITES HELD ON FRIDAY

The annual Memorial Day parade and services were held in Littlestown Friday evening.

A large number of people were present for the services in Mount Carmel Cemetery, when the Rev. Herbert L. Rice, pastor of Bethany Evangelical and Reformed Church, York, was the guest speaker. The Rev. Mr. Rice, who served with the Marines as a chaplain in the China-Burma theater during World War II and recently completed a term as a Naval Reserve chaplain, based his memorial address on the subject "Self Sacrifice." The speaker said: "It is human nature to give what is left over to the church and others but Memorial Day is a tribute to those who gave more than what was left over." The Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed Church, introduced the speaker.

The cemetery service began with selections by the Littlestown High School Band, and the invocation was offered by the Rev. David S. Kammerer. Following the address and more selections by the band, taps were played by Richard Horner, after which tribute to the war dead was noted by a firing squad. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. G. Howard Koons, pastor of Christ Reformed Church, Legionnaire Ralph R. Ruggles Jr. served as master of ceremonies.

Parade Before Exercises
Immediately following the memorial service, the Explorer Post No. 84 paid tribute to Terry Burr, who was a member of the post at the time of his death. Graveside services were conducted, with Terry Burr's obituary read by Edward B. Geiman, post adviser, Explorer Lee.

SAY A SILENT PRAYER

Loneliness can't fill an empty room . . . nor can mere words bring back the dead . . . but prayer gives strength unto the dead . . . but prayer gives strength unto the heart . . . and solace for the weary head . . . love cannot glorify the loss . . . of someone who was very dear . . . but somehow just a silent prayer . . . can bring a loved one very near . . . so on this day of memories . . . of those who fought and died for peace . . . remember them in every prayer . . . and they will know your love won't cease . . . and while you pray remember too . . . all those who make free men survive . . . and say a silent prayer for them . . . so God will send them home alive.

45,000 LURED BY LEWIS' U.M.W.

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Union has opened its arms to some 45,000 port workers who have been affiliated with the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn. Lewis announced that six locals, numbering about 9,000 members, have voted to leave I.L.A. and to join a new marine division set up in U.M.W.'s catch-all District 50. The old I.L.A. was ousted from the AFL for allegedly failing to clean out gangster elements. The AFL has since formed a new and rival I.L.A. The U.M.W. claimed recruits from among crewmen of tugs, barges, and other craft operating in harbors at New York, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Va., Portland, Me., Providence, R. I., New Haven, Conn., Wilmington, Del., and at Albany, N. Y., on the Hudson River.

ties of the Intermediate Choir have been discontinued but there will be rehearsals on June 6 and 13, 1:30 p.m., in preparation for the group to sing at the 2 p.m. session of the spring convention of the Adams County Council of Christian Education on Sunday, June 20. All young people of the church between the ages of 11 and 17 years are invited to join the choir for singing at the convention, and all children of the Third District Sunday School Association are invited to join the group and sing at the convention. The weekly meeting of the Junior Fellowship of the Centenary Methodist Church will be held on Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

He wants to improve the world, not tear down society; he wants to help his fellowmen, because he knows that every one of them was created in the image of God. He has the courage to face danger, for he knows that he has an ally greater than any one on earth."

Turning to the second attribute, optimism, he declared: "Here again, it has become somewhat the fashion to be pessimistic. And, to be truthful, there is much ammunition for the prophets of gloom. They can point to our recent epidemic of corruption in high places and to our high crime statistics. They can talk of the latest international rivalries in the Balkans, the Near East, the Middle East, and the Far East. They can speak of strikes and famine and disease and the dangers of the misuse of atomic energy. And so on and on and on.

Defines A Pessimist
"You must not be astonished if many of your elders complain that the world is 'going to the dogs.' Such complaints seem to be as old as man himself. But those dogs to which we are going must certainly be a long way off, for we have not reached them yet! You must not worry too much about the pessimists. After all, a pessimist usually is just a person who sizes himself up and then gets peeved at what he finds.

"But even if we are realists and recognize that there is much evil in the world, there remains plenty of cause for optimism—for looking at the doughnut instead of the hole. Certainly, a few years ago, right triumphed over wrong in the greatest war of all history. The dignity of the individual, of that individual who was created in the image of God, has been upheld against evil forces that tried to drown him in an unthinking mass. A potentially strong United Nations has replaced the weak League of Nations. There has been amazing recent progress in medicine, in the application of science to industry, and in the creation of more comforts for more people. Even the strikes, serious though they may be, cannot be called strikes against oppression and poverty; they are strikes to get for millions of people the highest income, the greatest leisure, and best living conditions that laboring men and women have ever received.

Youth Is Optimistic
He stated, "The normal attitude of youth is optimism, because youth is hopeful. The word 'failure' has no place in an intelligent young person's vocabulary. Every now and then you will find people who sneer at hope and optimism and call them the refuge of failures. These people are wrong. Perhaps they are only trying to be 'smart.' Or perhaps, as so often happens today, they are trying to shift on to other people the blame for their own shortcomings. They feel bad when they feel good, because they are afraid that they will feel worse when they feel better!

"Hope actually is a sign of strength, not of weakness. Bear in mind that there are no really hopeless situations; there are only people who have grown hopeless about

Memorial Services At McSherrystown

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation, of the Blessed Virgin Mary, will deliver the principal address at McSherrystown's annual Memorial service Sunday morning in the parish cemetery.

A parade, sponsored by the McSherrystown Catholic War Veterans post, will form on the Annunciation school grounds and move at 11:30 a.m. over the following route to the cemetery: North St. to Fifth St., then north to the parish cemetery. The formation will include: Delone Catholic High School band, Annunciation school children, Boy and Girl Scout troops, Holy Name Society, Conewago Lions Club, McSherrystown Fire Company, Moose and Eagle lodges, borough officials, Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Columbus and clergy.

And these are rarely young persons — at least, they are not young in spirit.

"But because youth is hopeful, it is also easy to deceive. Hopeful youth generally likes to listen to formula-spouters, because these seem to have ready-made answers for all problems. Beware of such slogan-spouters. We cannot solve the complex problems of our civilization by applying such over-simplified formulas as, for example, 'the dictatorship of the proletariat.' Such formulas are usually made up by people who have become sour, or who have the proverbial axe to grind, or who will use any means to gain power for themselves.

Courtesy, Friendliness
"By all means, be open to change—but not to change merely for the sake of change. It is foolish to try to change things merely because they are traditional, just as it is foolish to hold on to views simply because they are traditional. You must learn to judge each case on its own merits. When change obviously means improvement, then change is in order. Otherwise it is better to cling to the tried and true.

"And now for our last point, namely, the matter of friendliness and politeness. Have you not found that people usually react towards you exactly as you approach them? Most of the people whom you will

BOY, 4, KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

SCRANTON, Pa., (AP)—A 4-year-old boy died and seven others—all occupants of the same automobile—were critically injured last night when it struck a tractor-trailer in a driving rain on Route 309 4 miles south of Tunkhannock.

Scene of the accident is a hill on the 2-lane highway 20 miles north of Scranton.

Dead is John Bednarczyk of Schenectady, N. Y. Injured are his sisters and brothers, Irene, 6, Mary Lou, 10, and Thomas, 8, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bednarczyk, John Victor, (414 N. Maple St.) Mount Carmel, Pa., and Stanley Charkowski, 64, (316 S. Vine St.) Mount Carmel.

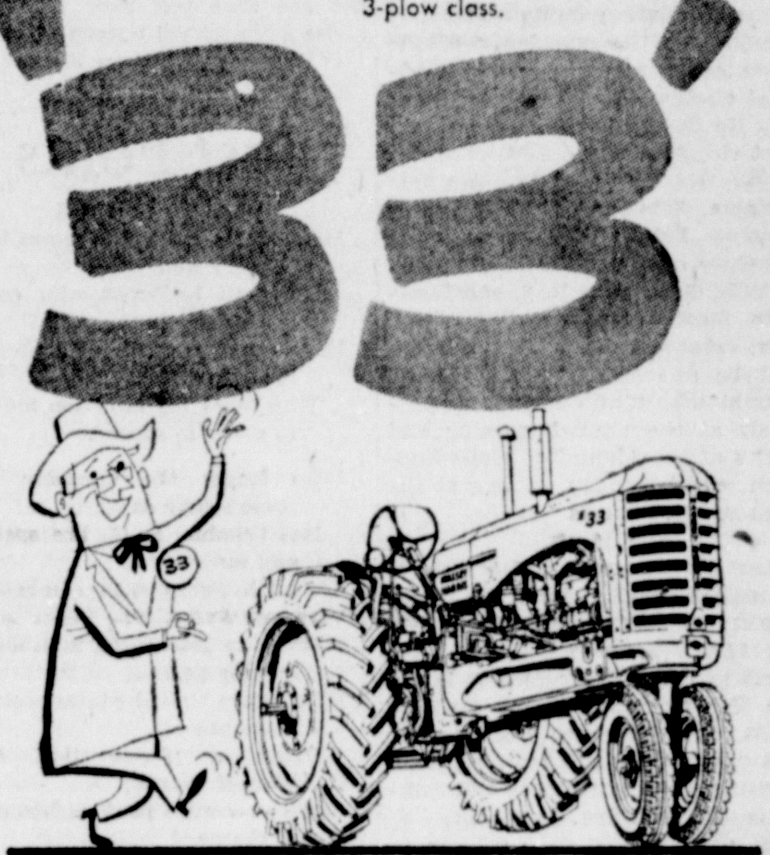

State police said it appeared that Victor was driving the car which either plowed under or caromed off the side of the tractor trailer section of the huge truck. The driver, Rex Williams, Halstead, Pa., was uninjured.

All of the injured are at Scranton State Hospital. Police said they were too seriously hurt to give an accurate account of the accident.

They were reported to be en route from Schenectady to Mount Carmel to visit relatives over the Memorial Day weekend.

President Roosevelt of two recommendations by Governor Martin for appointments to fill vacancies in the Selective Service Personnel in the New Oxford district has been received here.

Albert E. Weaver, former burgess of McSherrystown, has been appointed as a member of the New Oxford draft board to fill the position resigned recently by E. L. Golden, Bonneauville. Mr. Golden resigned because of ill health after serving as board secretary since the draft board was set up more than three years ago.

Richard A. Brown, Esq., has been appointed as government appeal

Jr., who resigned because under present Selective Service regulations the offices of government appeal agent and district attorney have been held to be incompatible.

town burgess for 12 years, is a part owner of the Penn Box company at dedicatory address "in behalf of the student body, the student council and the alumni association." A brief acceptance speech was made by Superintendent L. C. Keefeauver.

The Honor Roll, to which scores of names are to be added, was unveiled by Miss Shirley Larkin, a member of the senior class, and Melvin Little, alumnus of the class of 1925.

Today's Talk

FEEL THE MONEY SPENT!
One of the most charming of the essays by Charles Lamb is the one he wrote on "Old China." He wrote of the time when they bought precious things and had to sacrifice to do so, but with satisfaction over the joy received. Lamb commented in these words:
"A thing was worth buying then,
when we felt the money we paid for it."

Sacrifices have always brought a certain glory with them, a satisfaction that later comfortable circumstances do not give. George Gissing, the English writer, during his days of poverty, would often stand before a bookstore, viewing some volume that he so much desired, and would try to decide whether to buy it with the small amount of money he had, or to spend it for food. Usually the book won!

We feel the money spent for things that enrich the mind and which add beauty to our lives. I know because I have often bought a prized thing, or book, that might have been spent for something that might have been a different comfort. Money spent for small luxuries is always felt, but a certain joy received makes the process well worth while.

I think of the millions who have had to sacrifice to buy a low-priced automobile, and who had to take a long time to pay for it, but which brought happiness to them that they had never experienced before. When people have the money to buy, as they never had before, those simpler joys are lacking. They do not then feel the money spent.

We would not wish to have any of the blessings of poverty, and its memories, removed. There were thrills accumulated from the money spent for them that no later days have been able to match.
Said Lamb, in his essay quoted:
"Now you can afford to buy any book that pleases you, but I do not see that you ever bring me home any nice old purchases now."

Just Folks

UNITED STATES
He shall be great who serves his country well.

He shall be loved who ever guards her fame.

His worth the stately banner long shall tell

Who loves his land too much
to stoop to shame.

Who stares the splendor of these sunny skies

Has Freedom as his birthright and may know

Rich fellowship with comrades brave and wise;

Into the realms of manhood
he may go.

Who writes United States beside his name

Offers a pledge that he himself is true;

Gives guarantee that selfishness or shame

Shall never mar the work he finds to do.

He is received world-wide as one who lives

Above the sordid dreams of petty gain

And is reputed as a man who gives

His best to others in their hours of pain.

This is the heritage of Freedom's soil:

High purposes and lofty goals
to claim,

And he shall be rewarded for his toil

Who loves his land too much
to stoop to shame.

Australians Are Balloting Today

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Australians voted today in general elections. The balloting—expected to be close—was to decide whether the country would be governed for the next three years by the coalition of Prime Minister Robert G.
Menzies, which favors private enterprise, or by the Socialists.

Political experts predicted that Menzies' Liberal—Country party majority over the Socialist Labor party of Herbert V. Evatt would be even less than at present—if the government were returned. A swing of only one or two per cent in the vote might be enough to unseat it.

Prayers, Parades, Pageantry And Flowers To Honor U.S. Soldier Dead This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With prayers for a peaceful future, America honors its soldier dead once again this weekend.

The traditional rites across the nation will occupy two days this year, with some on Sunday and others on Monday, because Memorial Day falls on Sunday.

But they will be no less fervent, coming as they do at a time when the hydrogen bomb and other awesome weapons cast their dreadful shadows upon the earth.

The services will take many forms, ranging from quiet prayers to God for national guidance to the strewing of flowers upon the seas which wash America's shores.

Then, too, there will be parade and pageant.

For millions of Americans, the weekend also will signal the start of the annual vacation and travel season, the opening of resorts and the first taste of the many summer-time diversions.

With much of the nation enjoying a three-day holiday, the National Safety Council estimates more than 35 million automobiles will roll along the highways, if the weather is good.

It also estimates the lives of 340 citizens will be snuffed out in the heavy travel.

Millions of other persons will travel by train, plane, bus and boat.

President Eisenhower, acting in conformity with provisions of a congressional resolution approved in 1950, issued a proclamation designating Sunday as a day of prayer for lasting peace.

To Be At Arlington

The proclamation said:
"We should keep faith with our heroic dead by humbly and devoutly supplicating almighty God for guidance in our efforts to achieve a peaceful world."

It then designated the hour of 11 a.m. (local time) in each locality for people to "join in prayer for God's help in reaching the coveted goal of amity among nations."

Monday morning, at memorial exercises at the Arlington National Cemetery, the President will lay a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Following a tradition which apparently began spontaneously in the South following the Civil War, graves will be decorated in cemeteries across the country.

Al Rosen Beats Detroit With 13th Home Run Of Season, Stay Ahead Of Chisox Who Take 2

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

If Al Rosen can continue his present pace, he's going to force the major league baseball writers to dig up a new award.

The writers unanimously picked Rosen as the most valuable player in the American League last season, the first time any player had been selected on a perfect ballot.

The handsome, prematurely grey Cleveland star pulled the landslide after sweeping virtually every available hitting honor and missing the batting crown by a single point.

Scores Big Runs

It was a tremendous year, leaving little room for improvement.

But this season he's ahead of his last year's pace in every department.

In 37 games he has collected 51 hits in 137 times at bat for an average of .372. He's hit 13 home runs, scored 29 and driven in 48. At the same stage a year ago he was hitting .338 with 47 hits, 10 homers, 22 runs and 30 runs batted in.

Not only is he getting more of everything but his timing has been near perfection. For example, in the last 15 days he has personally accounted for the winning or tying run in 6 of the 12 games won by Cleveland.

Did It Again Friday

He did it again last night as he broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Early Wynn and Steve Gromek of Detroit with his 13th home run with Larry Doby on base in the seventh inning. The final score was 3-0 as Wynn checked the Tigers on two hits.

By winning the Indians stayed nine percentage points ahead of the onrushing Chicago White Sox who swept a twilight-night doubleheader from slump-ridden Baltimore, 11-6 and 14-8. The New York Yankees came from six runs behind to edge Boston 10-9 and Philadelphia brought to Washington 12-6.

10 Strout For Braves

In the National League the first place Milwaukee Braves extended their winning streak to 10 although they had to go 12 innings to beat the New York Cardinals 3-2. New York batted Brooklyn 17-7, knocking the Dodgers into fourth place. Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 4-0 in a game shortened to six innings because of rain and Cincinnati beat Chicago 6-3 in the only daylight action in either circuit.

A Baltimore crowd of 23,184 sat through 6 hours 35 minutes of misery as the Orioles ran their losing streak to nine. Chicago pulled into a virtual tie for first place with Cleveland, Baltimore sank into a three-way tie with Boston and Philadelphia for last.

Cass Michaels hit a grand slam home run for the White Sox in the first game while the Orioles left 16 stranded. In the nightcap Baltimore left 13 men on base.

Two Records Broken

Two records for pinch hitters were broken in the opener. Baltimore used eight, a single club mark, and Chicago added one to break the two team total.

Andy Carey's single in the ninth drove in the Yankees' winning run at Boston after the world champions had trailed by as many as six runs. Jackie Jensen hit a grand slam home run in the third and Ted Lepcio homered, with two aboard for Boston in the fifth. But the Yanks tied it with six in the sixth on five singles and three walks.

Wayne Terwilliger hit a home run with two on, Roy Sievers with one on and Jim Busby with the bases empty as Washington doubled the score on the Athletics.

Giant Home Run Crazy

Milwaukee came up with two runs after two were out in the last of the 12th to edge the Cardinals who had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the 12th. Johnny Logan's third straight single brought across Jim Pendergast with the winning tally.

The Giants were home run crazy against the slumping Dodgers at the Polo Grounds as they won their sixth straight. They hit six home runs, four of them in the eighth inning, one short of the National League record for a single frame.

Art Fowler struck out eight Cubs in winning his fourth game for Cincinnati without a loss.

An error by pitcher Ma Surkont touched off a three-run Philadelphia rally at Pittsburgh in the fourth inning and Murry Dickson scattered four singles for his fifth victory.

Advance Crowd Is At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The advance guard of the world's most patient sports crowd camped today at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's 10 gates, with two days to kill before the 38th annual 500-mile auto race.

Dust-covered cars from coast to coast steadily fell into line for Monday morning's dash after choice parking spots in the track infield.

This annual gathering of speed lovers looks like self-imposed misery to non-members of the fraternity but the blue-jeaned swarm seems to enjoy itself.

CORRELATION IS FAVORITE AGAIN

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Correlation can get back in his owner's good graces today by living up to advance notices and galloping home with the $50,000 added Jersey handicap at Garden State Park.

Robert S. Lytle went to both the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness stakes with every confidence he'd meet the governors of Kentucky and Maryland in the winner's circle. Correlation ran out of the money in the Derby and was second to Hasty Road in the Preakness.

Today Lytle hopes his highly rated colt won't let him down again. Correlation is the over-night favorite at 9-5, but then he was the people's and the handicapper's choice at Churchill Downs and Pimlico.

The son of Free America will be handled by his regular rider, Willie Shoemaker, in the mile and a furlong test for three-year olds before an expected 40,000 fans.

Competition for the favored Lytle horse should come from the second choice, I GeeGee, High Gun, Galdar and War of Roses.

JACKSON WINS WITH 5TH ROUND TKO ON NORKUS

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Tommy Jackson will be offered a July 21 Madison Square Garden date with Nino Valdes, Coley Wallace or James J. Parker after his fifth round technical knockout victory over blood-spattered Charley Norkus.

Sammy Golden, one of the Hurricane's co-managers, will insist on Valdes, the hulking Cuban who is the second ranking challenger to heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano.

The Hurricane, upset by "Spiller" Jimmy Slade in his previous start, was slow to blow up a storm last night at the Garden. He was cautious, like a man driving a car the first time after an accident.

Blew Up A Storm
Once he started to rip and tear in the third, fourth and fifth Jackson looked more like his old self. Norkus bled from cuts over both eyes from the second round on and reeled from Jackson's left hooks and short right hand punches in the fourth and fifth before Referee Al Berl called a halt at 2:29 of the fifth. The crowd of 4,139 that paid $13.205 approved.

Dr. Vincent Nardello of the New York State Athletic Commission said he would have to take six stitches in each of two cuts over Jackson's eyes. Norkus preferred to have his eye stitching done later.

Jackson weighed 192½ to Norkus' 194 pounds.

TENNIS
PARIS — America's top doubles team of Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Australia's No. 1 combination of Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall won their semi-final matches in the French International tournament.

SURBITON, England — Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., easily defeated Jean Petchell of England, 6-2, 6-1, to reach the final round of the Surrey Lawn Championship.

RACING
NEW YORK — Quick Lunch ($4.20) won Fair Harbor Purse at Belmont.

CAMDEN, N. J. — Prize Winner ($7.40) captured Pittsgrove Purse at Garden State.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Willie Shoemaker rode four winners including Lucky Martin ($3.70) in feature at Hollywood.

BILL CAMPBELL LEADS TOURNEY
MURFIELD, Scotland, (AP) — Bill Campbell, towering former legislator from West Virginia, was 1 up on his rival, Doug Bachli of Australia, after the morning round of 18 holes today in the finals of the British amateur golf championship.

A second 18-hole round will be played this afternoon to determine a successor to Joe Carr of Ireland, who was eliminated by Campbell yesterday.

The American grabbed a 3-hole lead at the very start of the round and never trailed although Bachli, hardly known outside his own continent until this meet, evened the match on the 13th.

Campbell was having trouble with his putter at the closing stages of the morning round. On the 13th he missed a five-footer that permitted Bachli to level the contest.

On the 16th he missed a three foot tap that would have put him 2 up.

PHILS SIGN PAIR
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two young pitchers, Ernie Tabor, 18, of Little Rock, Ark., and Jimmy Golden of Silver Lake, Kan., have been signed by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Both are righthanders and both were assigned to Mattoon, Ill., in the Class D Mississippi-Ohio Valley League.

Looks Like Year For Penn State In IC4A

NEW YORK (AP) — Not since the days of the great Barney Ewell more than a decade ago has Penn State had a real chance to win the IC4A track and field championship which will be decided today on the speedy Randall's Island cinders.

But with Yale practically strangled out of the running and Manhattan, champion the last two years, holding out but a faint hope, this looks like the Nittany Lion's year.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Dick Charles, Lancaster, and Bill Carlet, Abington, today squared off for the PIAA tennis crown at the three-sport statewide scholastic championships.

Hundreds of schoolboys from all over the Commonwealth joined competition in tennis, golf and track and field.

Scarlet moved into the finals yesterday by defeating Jim Schry, Southmont, and Rolfe Quick, Montrose, in straight sets. Charles gained a final berth by topping Joel Spiro, Pittsburgh Alliance, 6-1, 6-0, and Bob Swaney, Tarentum, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0.

The champion named today replaces last year's winner, Bob Rickenbach, Wyomissing, who was defeated by Charles in District 3 eliminations.

Doubles' Finals
Aiming for the doubles tennis crown after victories yesterday were Jim Foster and Merr Trumore of Bethlehem, and Carl Getty and Ken Derr of Lower Merion.

Bob Koehnour headed a field of 24 golfers who gained the final 18-hole event of the 54-hole state golf championship. Koehnour carded 71-70-141 on the par 69 Penn State University course.

Pressing Koehnour in the battle for the crown vacated by last year's winner, Ken Fisher of Penn Twp., were Dick Chase, Oakmont, with 71-71-142, and Pat Reilly of Sharon, with 73-70-143.

Reilly took fourth in the state championship's last year.

Track and field events opened today with some 650 schoolboy athletes from 165 Class A and Class B schools vying for individual honors.

Suburban Philadelphia athletes from District 1 south for the third straight year to take top places in the competition. Defending school champion is Erie Academy of District 10.

Bessie Mundorff Wilder and Lula Menchey Ohler, '03, and Amy Sheeds Ridinger, '08.

Donald Weikert, class of '20 from Washington D. C. told of a gathering recently held in Washington by GHS alumni in that area with 40 attending.

Association officers were introduced and then greetings were called for from the reunion classes.

Fred G. Troxell of the high school faculty responded for the 50th anniversary class. E. F. Rudisill of the class of 1909 attended the banquet but was not present to respond for his class. Carl S. Menchey spoke for the class of 1914 and Mrs. Fred P. Haehnel for the 12 members of the class of 1919 there for their 35th reunion. There are 27 members of the class living, she said. She called on Principal G. W. Lefever, a guest of the class, who was identified as the only present faculty member in high school when that class graduated. Miss Ruth Spangler was a member of that class.

Mrs. Geraldine Epley Sloop spoke for the three present from the original 48 in the class of 1924; Martha Furney for the class of '29 which numbered 97 at graduation and had 33 present Friday; Dr. Keith Fischer for the 38 present from the class of '34; Attorney Eugene Hartman for '39 with 15 present; John Horner for the class of '44 with 36 there from the original 118.

Lot Of Talk About Building Practical V-6 Engine And Some Manufacturers Trying It

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Without some rattles in the car many a childish driver wouldn't feel so much at home.

V-6 Bides Its Time

From time to time you will be hearing about the possibilities in using a V-6 engine. There is a lot of talk about this, and most of the car makers have been experimenting for some time. But nothing seems to come of it.

A six-cylinder engine in V-form would seem to have the advantage of being compact, and it might thus be something to accelerate flagging interest in rear-engined cars. I understand, however, that because of balancing difficulties with this type power plant a counter-shaft and weights must be used to check roughness. This sort of spoils the picture. You may remember that this feature of the sleeve valve engine of some years ago was one of the things that kept it from gaining popularity.

Guide To A Job

Work on front wheel bearings calls for some special precautions. One often overlooked is the likelihood that a new grease retainer will be needed. The old one may be damaged when removing it to withdraw the inner bearing. Another point that calls for special attention is the matter of condition of the bearing cups inside the hub. In addition to cleaning the bearings by dunking them in gasoline all trace of the old grease should be removed from the hub. Clean the brake drum of dust. And check the brake shoes to make sure there is no grease or brake fluid on the linings. Wheel bearings should be lubricated with special short-fibre grease with resistance to high temperatures.

Progress Takes A Step

Two developments for the car are good evidence that there is a lot of sensible thinking going on behind the scenes. The first is a spare reservoir for the hydraulic braking system that automatically feeds more fluid to the master cylinder's reservoir as needed. It mounts on the firewall of the engine and in that position is easily watched and refilled.

The other bit of news concerns the availability of special generators for producing 110-volt current in the car. This is designed to provide current for operating a refrigerator, TV set, electric hot plate or other 110-volt equipment desirable in a trailer or on a camping trip.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"It's a strange thing why we all have an inclination to judge the condition of radiator hoses by how they look or feel on the outside. The real story is all on the inside where there is the deteriorating effect of hot water, anti-freeze solutions, oils and inhibitors, not to mention the acids from slow leakage of combustion gases past the cylinder head gasket.

"Sometimes a section of the hose will come loose and act like a valve to retard circulation. That lower hose usually has a coil spring inside to give support and to prevent the hose from collapsing. But this coil may rust out and break. Greatest risk in allowing disintegrating hoses from remaining in service is the chance that bits of rubber and fabric will be carried into the radiator to clog it."

Easy With That Screen

Sometimes the simplest of attentions to the car turn out to be more complicated than at first glance. Typical is the screen of the automatic choke. This is quite a delicate part and must be handled with care. If its edges are crimped the chances are that the choke control will develop an air leak which would prolong the choking period and cause the engine to load up.

I am indebted to an editor for a rather interesting and helpful story concerning the way our cars can and do fool us. For several weeks he had been noticing that on his way home the engine always broke into a mysterious skipping just as the car went over a slight rise and dip in the road surface. At all other times everything seemed normal.

Lifting the hood he took a look at the engine while it idled and, hearing a slight hiss, discovered a break in the rubber hose to the windshield wiper motor just where it connected with the metal tube at the intake manifold. Evidently this crack in the hose opened up when the car hit the rough spot in the road, and by leaning out the mixture, produced the skip. Due to the flexible mounting of the engine this disturbance was magnified.

Singing For Safety

It isn't often that a book designed for small fry has a message for motorists, but if there are children in the family better take a look at Grayce E. Long's fascinating book called "Laughter and Song." What gives it automotive interest is a little ditty "Go and Stop" which takes a sly poke at the sort of pedestrian who doesn't seem to realize the traffic signals are for him too. Sally Malkasian who illustrated the book depicts this one with the six-year old driver at the wheel of his 1954 Soap Box Special pulling up for a prompt stop at the signal light. This is singing safety at the age where impressions mean everything.

Boston Music Company publishes this unusually colorful book of songs for those who will be tomorrow's citizens. Miss Long is a lecturer on child psychology and herself an ardent motorist.

The Motor Primer

Motorists who have a telltale for the charging circuit, instead of the conventional ammeter, often wonder how this operates. The arrangement is fairly simple. This little light is connected into the circuit with the battery, generator and generator regulator. As the generator goes into action its voltage opposes the battery voltage to the indicator light and when the differential between the two voltages decreases the light goes off. One wire from the light goes to the armature post of the regulator. This post is one that connects with the generator's armature.

Raining Day Noises

While it is true that water tossed into the wheel housings by the tires on a rainy day will often make annoying noises don't over-look the possibility that noise may also come from loose rear springs. Water acts like a temporary lubricant, causing the loose leaves to slap. One owner who figured all the rainy day noise was merely from the tires, and who did not mind it, finally experienced a broken spring.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. Every now and again the ammeter on my car shows discharge without my having changed car speed, or switched on the lights or radio. This lasts for a few minutes, then everything seems normal again. The battery stays charged. H. L.

A. I suspect the generator. Probably there is a sticky brush holder which occasionally keeps its brush away from the commutator. Of course check for a loose connection, and also check grounding of the generator's regulator.

Q. I have noticed that the engine of my car pings sharply after I have turned a corner slowly and am picking up speed. The car is equipped with an automatic transmission. T. H. B.

A. And the trouble here is with that transmission. Apparently it doesn't shift down into a lower gear.

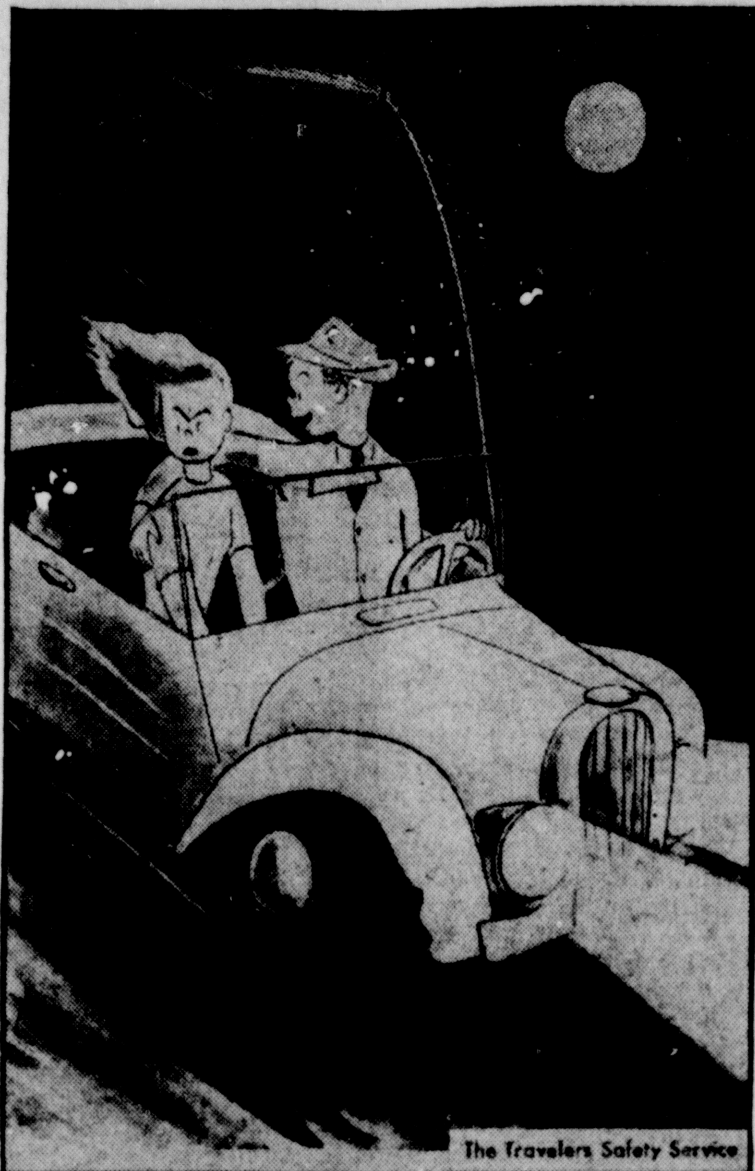

Q. An old timer tells me that he remembers that some American car was equipped with a motor fan that cut out at speeds over 40 miles per hour. Can you tell me the name of that car? Wm. L. Jr.

A. This feature was on the Willis-St. Claire. The idea was that the air draft was sufficient to cool the radiator at higher speeds. A little extra power was saved for higher speeds by cutting out the fan.

Q. There is a peculiar noise in the clutch of my car under the conditions I have enumerated on

The Passing Scene

by Osann

"What's the matter, Chick? Don't you know you're with a very experienced one-arm driver?"

page two of this letter. Can you possibly diagnose this from this information. T. H. F.

A. I'll try. How about worn splines on the clutch shaft.

Q. From the way it looks to me the fuel pump on my car cuts out at higher speeds. Would this be possible? T. G.

A. I think the pump just seems to do this. Probably there is a leak in the flexible fuel line from the main fuel line to the pump. Air is drawn in, and the vapor lock which follows acts like the pump is failing.

Q. Should the choke valve shaft or any of the choke mechanism be oiled? K. L. J.

A. Under no circumstances oil these parts. Oil collects dirt, and that may produce wear and stickage. Any such parts that are now sticking or binding should be cleaned with a solvent.

Q. I get a sharp ping in the motor of my car after it has warmed up, even though it doesn't overheat. However, I cannot get this ping when the engine is cold. How come? N. B. V.

A. This is a sharp ping that there is a lot of carbon in the cylinders. You are really getting preignition from the incandescent carbon particles. Carbon also takes up space within the cylinders, and this has the effect of raising compression. When the engine is cold the rings do not fit as tightly, so the pinging is then under control.

Mr. Russell will answer ques-

M'CARTHY SAYS CARR WILL BE ABLE TO TESTIFY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy said Friday that Francis P. Carr, dismissed as a principal, will be available for testimony in the McCarthy-Army dispute.

McCarthy said in a letter read at the opening of the 23rd day of televised hearings into the controversy, that Carr was "deeply disturbed" to learn that the committee's action in dropping him as a principal "was interpreted by some to mean that he would not be available to testify."

The letter was addressed to Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Mundt read it into the record. Outvoted Democrats Committee Republicans had outvoted Democrats, 4-3, Wednesday to drop Carr, staff director for the Senate Investigations subcommittee, from the list of principals in the dispute, along with H. Struve tions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

Hensel, assistant secretary of defense.

Carr originally had been named along with Sen. McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for the subcommittee, in charges by Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams.

McCarthy's letter followed a protest by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) against the committee action in dismissing Carr and Hensel as principals.

Has Special Interest

Smith is not a member of the subcommittee but has had special interest in the case since much of the testimony concerns the situation at Ft. Monmouth, and other military establishments in his state of New Jersey.

McCarthy's letter said: "Mr. Carr feels that while he has been cleared by the subcommittee of all the Adams-Stevens charges, nevertheless, he should be called as a witness if, after all the evidence on both sides is in, any member of the subcommittee, or any principal, wishes to question him.

"He feels as I do that while this investigation was deliberately and cleverly planned by those who had a personal interest in sidetracking our exposure of communism, every member of the staff of this subcommittee should be available to testify."

Wanted To Hear Carr

McCarthy said that while he had "strongly argued that the phony, trumped up false charges against Mr. Carr should be dismissed, I have made it very clear that I would advise all members of the staff to appear before this committee if called."

The three Democrats on the subcommittee — Sens. McClellan (Ark), Symington (Mo) and Jackson (Wash) — as well as Army special counsel Joseph Welch, have insisted that all the facts

Head-on Constitutional Conflict Mounts Between Sen. McCarthy And Administration On Security

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — A head-on constitutional conflict between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the Eisenhower administration hung heavily today over the Senate inquiry into the treatment of Army Pvt. G. David Schine.

The Senate's "who lied?" probe into the dispute between McCarthy and Army officials was temporarily submerged in a roaring battle over the Wisconsin senator's declaration that "no power on earth" will stop him from seeking information from government employees about "corruption, graft or treason."

McCarthy took this stand after a statement by Atty. Gen. Brownell yesterday—issued from the White House—that the executive branch of the government has "sole responsibility" for protecting the nation's security.

Defies Ike's Order
Brownell, with President Eisenhower's approval, gave this reply to McCarthy's earlier call on the two million federal workers in the executive department to give the senator secret information despite presidential orders to the contrary.

"The obligations and duties of the executive, judicial, and legislative branches of the government are defined by the Constitution . . . That (executive) responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

Firing In All Directions
The constitutional argument speedily found its way into the Senate Investigations subcommittee's televised hearings where it developed additional political overtones.

Firing in all directions, McCarthy said: Eisenhower is "an extremely busy man" and is "getting bad advice."

He is not suggesting that Brownell "resign or anything like that," but he hopes to persuade the attorney general "that where he does have the duty to enforce the law, that we have the duty to expose any failure to enforce the law."

He stands on his position that federal employees are "duty bound to give me information even though some little bureaucrat stamped it secret to protect himself."

Offshoot Of Inquiry
His Democratic colleagues on the investigations subcommittee, currently waging a fight for full access to subcommittee files, "will not get the names of the loyal government employees who gave us the evidence of treason that has been growing over the past 20 or 21 years."

These issues spewed out of the inquiry into Army charges that McCarthy and his aides improperly sought favored Army treatment for Pvt. Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant, and the McCarthy camp's contention that top Army officials used Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to sidetrack an investigation into alleged Communists in Army installations.

Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy's chief counsel, got in some under-odds denials yesterday of these charges but the subcommittee quit until Tuesday with cross-examination of him by Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins still unfinished.

May Go To Senate
McCarthy's attacks, which interrupted testimony, brought a Democratic defense of the President and Brownell, Republican criticism of Democrats for making "political speeches" and a threat to carry the fight over subcommittee files to the Senate itself.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) told newsmen that if McCarthy persists in what the Missouriian called blacking out information in the files from the Democrats, "I'm going to take the issue to the Senate and find out where we stand."

McCarthy has stepped off the subcommittee for the inquiry into his dispute with Secretary Stevens and other Army officials, but he remains chairman of its parent Government Operations Committee.
